

POLICE

An architectural rendering of a modern police station interior. The scene is a large, open-plan space with a dark blue carpeted floor. On the left, a large green wall with a pattern of white dots is illuminated from within. The text 'REGION POLICIAL TACNA' is displayed in large, white, bold letters on this wall. In the foreground, a silhouette of a police officer in uniform is walking towards the right. In the middle ground, another silhouette of a person is walking away from the viewer. The space features several concrete pillars, a set of white stairs with a dark wooden railing, and a planter box with various green plants. The ceiling is white with a grid of recessed lighting and a modern, geometric light fixture hanging from it. The overall atmosphere is clean, modern, and professional.
